

Paperback • $16.95
ISBN 0-8144-7316-4

“Thoughtful, thought-provoking, well-written... and of great interest, and great value, to both parents and professionals.”

—Bernard Rimland, Ph.D.,
Director, Autism Research Institute;
Founder, Autism Society of America

“Lots of good information in navigating the school systems and working with the medical community.”

— Temple Grandin, Ph.D., author,
Thinking In Pictures and Other Reports from My Life with Autism

Parenting Your Complex Child

Become a Powerful Advocate for the Autistic, Down Syndrome, PDD, Bipolar, or Other Special-Needs Child

Peggy Lou Morgan

As a parent of a special-needs child, you fight every day for your son or daughter. You negotiate mazes of red tape, try to get the attention of doctors, teachers, and other professionals, and watch as the world “classifies” and “categorizes” your totally unique child.

But nobody knows your child as you do. That knowledge is the key that will unlock the door to a happier, healthier, more productive life—and a more secure future—for your child. PARENTING YOUR COMPLEX CHILD presents a revolutionary, practical and powerful system for marshalling information and observations about your child into a cohesive plan for his or her daily life, and for documenting and communicating the child’s individual needs in a way that guarantees attention and action.

The book offers the professional and personal wisdom the author has gained through a life of advocating for special-needs children—including her own. Compassionate and wise, PARENTING YOUR COMPLEX CHILD will help you assure that your child’s current and future needs inform every discussion and determine each decision.

PEGGY LOU MORGAN has worked with special needs children and their families for nearly 35 years, including more than 10 years as a professional fiduciary, setting up services and placements for her clients. 20 years ago, Morgan adopted a son, Billy Ray, with multiple disabilities. They live together in Central Oregon.

• Meet author Peggy Lou Morgan •

Saturday, May 6 at 1 p.m.

at Barnes & Noble, 2690 NE Highway 20, Bend, Oregon

Meet
the Author!

Visit www.amacombooks.org